PAVE ALL STREETS WITH CONCRETE!

because—

1. Every street needs a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
2. At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
3. Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps ; ; ; and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
4. You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
5. You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications.

For complete pavement facts write to

This year my poppies bloomed continuously until July 20th. Never before have I seen so many or more beautiful gardens as at the present time. Rabbish piles have been removed and many beautiful flowers are now growing along the highways and by-ways. I have traveled hundreds of miles the present summer and everywhere there is a profusion of beautiful flowers.

It was my privilege last week while attending preaching services at a neighboring church to meet an old acquaintance whom I had not seen for a long time. Mr. Hoy Ferguson, a well-known farmer who lives some three miles from the Central Baptist church. He informed me that during the series of meetings last week he walked the distance to and from his home to the church twice daily, notwithstanding the fact that he is nearing his 86th birthday.

Rev. and Mrs. G.A. Chocklett are spending some time with their son, Andrew Chocklett who lives near Narrows.

Farmers Can Preserve Produce With Electrical Cold Storage

Apples are just one crop that refrigeration keeps for better eating

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

THERE are few farmers in this country who do not raise more perishable products than is needed to fill their immediate wants. If the excess is not large, it may be canned or stored in cold cellars for future consumption. Or, if a convenient market exists, it may be sold for what it will bring. Otherwise, of necessity it is fed to the stock or allowed to go to waste. Large surpluses, intentionally grown, generally are sold to commission merchants for whatever prices are offered as it is impossible for most farmers to hold such products for higher markets.

With the continued extension of high-line service in farm areas, more and more farmers are turning to electrical cold storage not only to obtain higher off-season prices but also to maintain the quality of their fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs, dairy products and meat.

The capacity of the average electric household refrigerator is limited to the foodstuffs that the family will consume in a relatively short period of time. However, units of greater capacity—up to 45 cubic feet—have been specially developed for farm use. In addition to providing space for the storage of considerable surplus food, they—as well as the newer small models—include a special low-temperature compartment in which frozen foods may be processed and stored. Frozen foods are ideal for the farmer's use. Staples and family supplies of meat, vegetables, fruits and even prepared meals may be purchased at one time and kept for long periods.

The walk-in cold storage room, ranging in capacity from 200 to 1,000 cubic feet, can be purchased ready made, knocked down it may be constructed on the farm from easily assembled and marketed panels or in existing buildings or it may be an open and roofed one. If the latter, a quick-freezing compartment can be installed within it. These units have ample capacity to meet the usual requirements of farmers except the large fruit growers who must either construct an old building to cold storage or erect a new one especially for that purpose.

The cost of an electric refrigerator plant for the farm is determined by its capacity, varying from $20.00 per cubic foot for the household refrigerator to about $1.00 per cubic foot for the walk-in cold storage room. Complete information about these units can be obtained without obligation from the various manufacturers or the extension service of your state college or university.

Advertising is ROMANCE

YOU READ THE ADS. As you read, visions come, and a desire for better things.

Do you see dresses? You picture yourself of a summer evening in this drifting white chiffon, softly printed with delicate blossoms.

Hats? Your mind's eye frames your face with a pastel shaded halo.

Foods? A cool, jolly dinner, with exciting news of the family's day.

Sporting goods? A slashing tennis game. A well-hit drive from the tee. A hard-hooked fish and a screaming reel.

Some people say that all enthusiasm should be taken out of advertising. In books and speeches they crusade for bleak little ads that give nothing but thread counts, strength and chemical tests, dimensions and prices. What a pity if they had their way!

Advertising is one of the welcome voices that directs our eyes upward. It has worked wonders in raising our standard of living. Let's encourage it to continue on its inspiring way.

Tenant Purchase Program Continued For Another Year

The Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Purchase Program will be continued through the 1940-41 fiscal year to June 30, 1941, in the 49 Virginia counties in which it was in operation last year, it was announced today by James S. Wills, state director of Farm Security Administration.

In addition, Mr. Wills announced the program would be extended to 10 new counties. The new counties were designated by Secretary of Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace on a basis of the prevalence of tenancy.

The number of loans to be made in each county during the coming 12 months has not been determined said Mr. Wills, adding that the number in each county would be limited by the funds available and the widespread demand throughout the United States for relief of tenancy.

Fifty new loans, as were the old, will be available to qualified tenant farmers and farm laborers who wish to purchase farms of their own but cannot secure the necessary credit from private sources or from any government agency other than the Farm Security Administration.

The new Virginia counties which have been designated for inclusion in the Tenant Purchase Program are: Albemarle, Amelia, Carroll, Fulvanna; Hanover; Loudoun; Louisa, Princess Anne, Rockbridge and Rockwell.

A total of 272 farms have been purchased in Virginia under this program in the three years in which the Bankhead-Jones Act has been in effect.

Tenant purchase loans are made to specially qualified tenant farmers or farm workers who must be residents of the county and show a high standard of farming ability. Preference is given family men under middle age who have had extensive farm ng experience and who possess sufficient livestock and equipment wholly or nearly free of debt with which to operate a family-sized farm. The term of the loan is 40 years with interest at three per cent.

Committees of farmers in the counties must pass on the qualifications of applicants. The farms must be purchased within the county.

Now is the proper time to make application for a tenant purchase loan. If you are interested get in touch with the farm supervisor or your county agent.

MODERNIZE YOUR MECHANIZED EQUIPMENT WITH CHEVROLET TRUCKS
at today's low prices!

YOU KNOW THE LEADER IN TRUCK SALES MUST BE THE LEADER IN TRUCK VALUE

Truck buyers are careful buyers—they thoroughly analyze and compare all types of trucking equipment—they want to make certain that they'll get the make and type of truck best suited to their business requirements.

It is a significant fact that more truck users choose Chevrolet than any other make of truck . . . because Chevrolet trucks could not have established their record of leadership in 1940 and maintained it for six out of the last eight years had it not been that Chevrolet trucks deliver more dollar-for-dollar value than any other make.

All models and types of Chevrolet trucks may still be purchased at today's low price levels, so it would be wise to consider replacing some of your trucking equipment with new Chevrolets now.

TRUCK BUYERS DEMAND FACTS—
Chevrolet Gives Certified Proof

Truck buyers are often bombarded with claims about the respective merits of various makes of trucks. But wise truck-buyers say, "Give me facts —give me proof—I must run my business according to actual facts and figures and I demand the same kind of facts about the truck I buy."

WRITE FOR FREE BOOKLET "Says Who?"

In order to provide conclusive proof of the dependability, economy, and value of Chevrolet trucks, Chevrolet recently sponsored a test run of a stock Chevrolet truck which was the longest test run ever conducted under the supervision of the American Automobile Association.

The performance facts compiled from this history-making test run are all contained in an interesting booklet entitled "Says Who?" You may obtain one from your Chevrolet dealer or by writing to Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Sales Corporation, General Motors Building, Detroit, Michigan.
